MYSTERIOUS RAFFLES

Young Man Changes Name but Real Name Found Out.

A young man by the name of L. A. Myers came into our midst something over a year ago, and on a wager with some friends of his in his home town, that he couldn't conceal his identity from them anywhere in the States for a year, which he took up. So one morning taking his leave from home he completely lost himself to his friends, and in vain they looked for him until the one year was up and then he disclosed his whereabouts to them and received the wager. The young man is Mr. C. R. Stevens formerly known as L. A. Myers, and is an expert machinist in our town and has opened up a repair shop here, and will conduct a business known as the Dixie Auto Company.

Prominent Man Dies.

Mr. McCovern was a prominent contractor in the mines here and was held in high esteem by all his friends, for his honesty and integrity and was a man among men. He was 56 years old. There is more Catarrh in the section of the country than any other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constant-failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore required constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The Glories of the Night.

(Delia Ransom Gannaway, in Southern Standard.)

As I stood upon the rustic bridge, alone,
Gazing into the pellucid waters below,
God's evening lamp arose and brightly it shone,
Warming my sad heart by its ethereal glow.
O, glorious moon; O, scene sublime and rare,
Remain as a beacon in my life's darkened night,
Dispelling ominous clouds of despair
From my saddened heart by your glorious searchlight.
Peaceful river, flowing with euphonic sound;
A motive power to set to music life's song;
With waves glistening bright as onward you bound,
O, do thou wash from my heart all semblance of wrong.
